AIA Florida Newsletter for emerging architects

vol 2011, issue june

Dear Michele,

Each month, AIA Florida's goal is to provide all of Florida's emerging and young architects with the most up-to-date news about what matters most.

NYC Architect to Keynote AIA Florida Convention

Douglas Gauthier, AIA is the design director for GAauthier Architects (GA), an architecture firm based in New York City. Gauthier has over 20 years of professional experience, and his work during this time has taken him from San Francisco to the former Eastern Bloc for research of defunct armament factories, to Western Europe and further east to Australia. Gauthier will present the work and philosophy of GA as keynote speaker on Friday, July 29.

Three signs of a miserable job, & how to fix it

We've all been there. You feel like you're stuck in a job you hate. But, with the current economy, you can't just quit. Should we wallow in our misery, or try to fix it? This article from Yahoo! HotJobs writer Tom Musbach might help.

"Awful," "dreary" and "miserable" are adjectives many people use to describe their jobs at one time or another. Dissatisfaction on the job is common and often temporary. But not many people take time to analyze what makes a job miserable and how to fix it." Read the full article HERE.

NCARB increases prize money for grants - $75,000!

The National Council of Architectural Registration Boards (NCARB) is increasing its focus on the NCARB Grant for the Integration of Practice and Education in the Academy. This year NCARB will award up to a total of $75,000 through multiple grants to proposals that integrate practice and education in the academy and address specific program criteria.

Up to seven grants will be available. For detailed information on the criteria, read the full release HERE.

COTE Video-Arch

The AIA Florida Committee on the Environment (COTE) has opened registration for the 2011 video competition, "Architecture Leading Us to a Sustainable Future." The purpose is to promote the creation of short video clips that highlight the architect's leading role in creating sustainable and energy efficient environments and in leading the state and the nation to a sustainable future.

The competition is open to everyone! CLICK HERE for a summary of the competition and register today.
