

Project Architect

Little, nationally recognized as a “Best Firm to Work For” and one of the nation’s most progressive design firms, is seeking a Project Architect with a positive, collaborative work style, to work in our Community Studio in our Orlando, FL office.

The ideal candidate for this opportunity will be an ambitious, creative Project Architect who has extensive experience working for community clients and is looking to improve the performance of our clients through creative collaboration and breakthrough ideas.

A candidate we’ll love:

- You have extensive Community Project Experience – including a variety of school, higher education, civic and other community-based projects.
- You are a resourceful and creative problem solver.
- You’re a good teammate – you want those around you to succeed and you’re capable of taking direction or leading a project to deliver a great product to our clients.
- You’re good with people – a strong listener, respectful in your interactions with others and have a positive outlook on life.
- You’re a good communicator –verbally, graphically and in written form, people understand your ideas and the way you share them.
- You are organized and thorough – you understand how to work with and coordinate consulting partners and many moving parts to deliver a solid, final product.
- You have a strong understanding of design, space planning, spatial relationships and materials.
- You have a passion for sustainability.
- You have professional drive and still have fun while you work.

A position you’ll love:

- You’ll be working in our community studio with other professionals dedicated to community practice projects.
- You’ll have a high degree of autonomy and responsibility.
- Your work will include a variety of tasks and design projects.
- You’ll lead teams of architects and engineers to meet project requirements, budgets and schedules.
- You’ll be responsible for developing design solutions and producing contract documents.
- You’ll be accountable for project success.
- You’ll have growth opportunities.

Ideal candidates will have the following Qualifications:

- Bachelor’s degree or higher in Architecture from an accredited university;
- A Minimum of six years of experience in the architecture & design industry;
- Architectural registration;
- Extensive experience in K-12 School, Higher Education, and or Civic Projects;
- Strong design experience; and
- Strong Revit skills.

Why Little:

Little is a place where you’ll surround yourself with colleagues who have different areas of expertise, are from different cultures and generations, and embody different talents, experiences, and passions. In fact, if you ask our employees what keeps them excited about coming to work each day, you’ll hear that it’s the people. It’s also our culture and the chance to be part of creating a better future through our work. We embrace a culture of teaching and learning through cross-mentoring that spans generations, disciplines, talents, and interests and we strive to give each person exposure to the widest possible array of experiences. We care intensely about our clients and each other, and we do our best to spark a spirit of creativity and excitement in everyone around us.

As for our Orlando office, it doesn’t take but a few steps through our doors before you find yourself feeling right at home. There’s an excitement in this office driven by a collaborative and collective work ethic, a passion for community involvement, and a relentless dedication to delivering sustainable and regenerative design solutions...not to mention a culture of celebration and fellowship. Recently renovated and soon-to-be WELL & LEED Certified, this office is located in the heart of downtown Orlando, giving it an atmosphere and energy that’s impossible not to love.
