

2014 AIA FLORIDA
CONVENTION
JULY 17-20 / MIAMI

CREATING COMMUNITY

President's Message

Nathan Butler, AIA, LEED AP
AIA Florida 2014 President

Success is defined relative to individual goals, and its appearance varies with each of our unique points of view. Regardless of your vantage point, you will find essential resources and insight at this year's AIA Florida Convention to help create success within your career, your practice and your community. So please join us this summer at the Trump National Doral Miami Resort where you will be engaged in dialogue and discovery of the most significant issues shaping our collective future.

Centered on the theme of 'Creating Community' this year's convention committee, chaired by Kim Headland, AIA and AIA Florida Vice President Joe Garcia, AIA, has assembled a unique set of programs exploring the connections between design and community health, economic growth, service leadership, career development, crime mitigation, and much more. Exploring the role of our profession relative to these issues is essential, as the value of design thinking continues to take a more prominent role in the public consciousness.

Our kickoff speaker, AIA National President-Elect, Elizabeth Chu Richter, FAIA, brings a unique perspective on the place of our profession in a changing world. Also joining us, Steve Dumez, FAIA of Eskew+Dumez+Ripple will join us to share how their New Orleans-based firm developed a community-focused culture that earned them recognition as the 2014 AIA National Firm of the Year and Ellen Dunham-Jones, AIA, co-author of Retrofitting Suburbia; Urban Design Solutions for Redesigning Suburbs, will be on hand to present timely insight into the creation of community assets that promote healthy and sustainable living through architecture. We will also showcase the award-winning film "If You Build It," documenting one of America's most innovative classrooms, where high school students collaborate to transform their community. Programs that engage young professionals and promote the path to licensure will be featured, while project tours and a fantastic opportunity to visit AIA Miami's new Miami Center for Architecture and Design will round out the offerings.

With its vibrant cultural heritage, Miami is a natural location for Florida's architects to assemble for fellowship and collaborative dialogue. Everyone has a role in shaping a successful future, and the knowledge we share today determines the course of our profession for the next generation of service leadership to carry forward. Because you desire to grow your career and position your practice to meet the challenges of the future, I know we will see you this summer at the 2014 AIA Florida Convention!

Kickoff Speakers

Elizabeth Chu Richter, FAIA, Richter Architects

Elizabeth Chu Richter is CEO of Richter Architects based in Corpus Christi, Texas. The firm's work includes academic research facilities, health sciences and fine arts complexes, GSA Design Excellence U.S. land ports of entry, museums, churches, and residences. Elizabeth graduated with a B. Arch. from the University of Texas at Austin. Richter Architects was the recipient of the Architecture Firm Award from the Texas Society of Architects in 2011. A past president of the Texas Society of Architects/AIA (2007), Elizabeth is active on the national level serving on the national AIA board as President Elect, and four national committees. She served as chair of the AIA Gold Medal/Firm Award Advisory Jury Committee (2012) and other awards juries including the national AIA Regional and Urban Design Awards (2003) and the inaugural AIA Northwest and Pacific Region Firm Award (2012).

Tom Murphy

Tom Murphy, ULI Canizaro/Klingbeil Families Chair for Urban Development, has been a senior resident fellow at the Urban Land Institute since 2006. A former mayor of Pittsburgh, he joins four other senior resident fellows who specialize in housing, finance, retail, and sustainable development. His extensive experience in urban revitalization—what drives investment, what ensures long-lasting commitment—has been a key addition to the senior resident fellows' areas of expertise. Since January 2006, Murphy has served as ULI's Gulf Coast liaison, helping coordinate with the leadership of New Orleans and the public the rebuilding recommendations made by a ULI Advisory Services panel held shortly after Hurricane Katrina.

Keynote Speaker

Enrique Norten, Hon. FAIA

Born and raised in Mexico City, Enrique Norten began his formal study of architecture at the Universidad Iberoamericana; he then went on to obtain his M. Arch. degree from Cornell University. Norten has received numerous awards, such as the Legacy Award from the Smithsonian Institute for his contributions to the American arts and culture and the Leonardo da Vinci World Award of Arts by the World Cultural Council. In addition to numerous awards, Norten has lectured all over the world, as well as participated in numerous international juries and award committees, such as the World Trade Center Site Memorial Competition in New York City and the Holcim Foundation Awards for Sustainable Construction. He has also taught at many elite colleges and currently holds chairs at four universities, including Harvard.

General Session Speakers

Ellen Dunham-Jones, AIA

Ellen Dunham-Jones teaches architecture at the Georgia Institute of Technology, is an award-winning architect and a board member of the Congress for the New Urbanism. She is widely recognized as a leader in finding solutions for aging suburbs and is the co-author of Retrofitting Suburbia: Urban Design Solutions for Redesigning Suburbs. She and co-author June Williamson share more than 50 case studies across North America of "underperforming asphalt properties" that have been redesigned and redeveloped into walkable, sustainable vital centers of community—libraries, city halls, town centers, schools and more.

Steve Dumez, FAIA

Steve Dumez is a Principal and Director of Design in the New Orleans based design studio Es skew+Dumez+Ripple. The firm's dedication to environment, cultural, and community concerns has created a platform for projects ranging from museums and interpretive centers to laboratories and environmental education facilities. His firm, under his direction, has been the recipient of numerous prestigious awards, most recently the 2014 AIA Firm of the Year, including two dozen national awards and over 100 additional awards at the local, state and regional levels. Mr. Dumez holds architectural degrees from Louisiana State University and Yale University and has lectured widely. He is a Past-President of AIA Louisiana and AIA New Orleans. He has chaired AIA design award programs at the local, state, regional and national levels.

Continuing Education

Session A: Creative Energy: Natural Gas Fulfills the Promise

Thursday, July 17

11:00 am – 12:00 pm

1 LU Hour (1 HSW)

The greatest news in the energy world this year has been the discovery, development and projected long term affordable cost of domestic natural gas. This class will explore some of the benefits of using natural gas such as reduced cost of construction, operation and to the environment. You will learn about cost, technologies and applications to consider on your projects.

Speaker: Scott Ranck, CEA, CEM,

Sponsored by:

Florida Natural
Gas Association

Session B: KICKOFF: The Central Role of Design in Thought Leadership

Thursday, July 17

1:30 pm – 3:30 pm

1.5 LU Hours (1.5 HSW)

New technologies continually change our work, while globalization, climate change and demographic shifts bring new changes toward the value of architecture in today's society. These influences place design thinking at the center of a new role for the profession. This program will frame the need to pursue new models in business, practice, and training. Examples of cities that have made deliberate choices to re-define themselves through architecture and design will be given to illustrate how the application of these principles can position communities for a prosperous future.

Speakers: Elizabeth Chu Richter, FAIA, Richter Architects, Tom Murphy, Urban Land Institute

Sponsored by:

Session C: Retrofitting Suburbia

Thursday, July 17

3:45 pm – 5:15 pm

1.5 LU Hours (1.5 HSW)

How can ghost boxes, dead malls, aging office parks, outdated edge cities and blighted commercial strips be retrofitted into more sustainable places? The co-author of the award winning book “Retrofitting Suburbia: Urban Design Solutions for Redesigning Suburbs,” Dunham-Jones will explain the drivers behind successful built suburban retrofits in North America and illustrate the three principal strategies: re-inhabitation, re-development and re-greening.

Speaker: Ellen Dunham-Jones, AIA, Georgia Institute of Technology

ARE Boot Camp

Friday, July 18 8:00 am – 9:30 am

Construction Documents

Session D: Build it or Buy in? - A down payment on your future.

Friday, July 18

9:30 am – 11:30 am

2 LU Hours

Which path will you take your career? Will you build your own firm or buy into an existing firm? Either path comes with financial, professional and personal commitments. This panel discussion will share the experiences and insight of three practicing architects. One joined an established firm, one launched a start-up and one experienced both.

Speakers: Judy Carty, AIA, Carty Architecture, James Cornetet, AIA, LEED AP, Process Architecture, Lourdes Solera, FAIA, MC Harry & Associates

ARE Boot Camp

Friday July 18 10:00 am – 11:30 am

Structural Systems

EP Roundtable: Open Roundtable

Emergent Talks

Friday, July 18

11:45 am – 1:15 pm

1.5 LU Hours

A roundtable presented by the associate directors of AIA components in Florida. This is the time to ignite new connections, provide inspiration, and find new peers you might not otherwise have met. United by topics and similar interests, the informal discussions will generate peer-to-peer dialogues that may provide inspiration. All are welcome to attend!

Session E: Building Community

Friday, July 18

1:30 pm – 2:45 pm

1 LU Hours (1 HSW)

From the firm's inception, the partners at Eskew+Dumez+Ripple articulated four enduring core values: Design Excellence, Environmental Responsibility, Community Outreach and Client Commitment. In this presentation Steve Dumez will discuss how these values and the resulting body of work reflects the firm's broad contributions to civic life regardless of scale, budget, scope or complexity.

Speaker, Steve Dumez, FAIA

ARE Boot Camp

Saturday, 19 8:00 am – 10:30 am

Site Planning Design & Programming, Planning & Practice

Session F: Leadership to Impact

Saturday, July 19

9:00 am – 10:30 am

1.5 LU Hours

This inaugural event of the Jacob Leadership Institute features a two-part session. Prior to participating in an engaging workshop to help formulate the future of the Jacob Leadership institute, a panel of architects will kick off the session with a collaborative discussion on the fundamentals of leadership, the role of the architect as a leader in the community, and how to discover success with a personal leadership plan.

Speakers: Mickey Jacob, FAIA, BDG Architects, Amy Slattery, AIA, Burns & McDonnell, Richard Wetzel, AIA, LEED AP, Centric Projects

Session G: Energy Efficient Windows & Doors Seminar and Tour

Saturday, July 19

9:00 am – 11:30 am

1.5 LU Hours (1.5 HSW)

This course reviews the critical components of impact resistant windows and doors and the material options available in the market. It includes the effects high performance glass has on energy ratings and includes a tour of the CGI manufacturing facility that will demonstrate how impact windows and doors are made and how they are tested via a live impact glass cannon demonstration. Transportation included.

Speaker: Steve E. Dawson, CGI Windows and Doors

Session H: Designing Safe & Secure Buildings with CPTED

Saturday, July 19

10:30 am – 12:00 pm

1.5 LU Hours (1.5 HSW)

This presentation will provide a refresher on the time tested holistic approach to designing security into the built environment. Emerging threats to today's buildings and their users include street crime, workplace violence, and terrorism. Case studies are shown on good and poor applications of security and CPTED.

Speaker: Randy Atlas, Ph.D., AIA, CPP, Atlas Safety & Security Design

Session I: Innovations in Housing Affordability

Saturday, July 19

10:30 am – 12:00 pm

1.5 LU Hours

A recent national report shows that South Florida is the least affordable major metropolitan area in the country. Design professionals and local leaders are making the area more affordable for a wide range of households through innovative strategies aimed at reducing major household costs. This is achieved through innovative design, reduced parking requirements, infill development, transit-oriented development, urban gardening, and brownfield remediation.

Moderator: Ralph Rosado, AICP CNUA, South Florida Community Development Collation

Speakers: Robert Behar, AIA, Stephanie Berman-Eisenberg, Carrfour Supportive Housing, Andrew Frey, CC Residential Projects, Michael Goldstein, Esq, Goldstein Environmental Law Firm, Albert Hernandez, P.E., Miami-Dade Transit

Earn your CEU credits
and earn a chance to win $500!

When you attend FNGA's CEU course on Thursday morning July 17 at 11:00 am, our Energy Expert will give you a reference card to work from. The card may also be picked up at the registration desk. All you have to do is sketch a creative use of natural gas in a structure on the fly. You'll have a full day to complete your sketch.

You can use a napkin, a paper or your laptop. Bring it to us at the beginning of the Tradeshow Friday afternoon and we will select the winner during the last half hour of the event. (Then hang around for the Gas Grill Drawing...and the Creative Energy Contest Winner.) We'll trump this convention and make it better than ever.
