

Orlando's University High Wins People's Choice Competition

Palm Beach – The Florida Association of the American Institute of Architects (AIA Florida) congratulates University High School in Orlando on winning the 2022 People's Choice Competition.

The People's Choice Competition, sponsored by the Florida Foundation for Architecture and AIA Florida, aims to raise public awareness of Florida's architecture.

This year, to go along with AIA Florida President Lourdes Solera, FAIA's, leadership theme of Empower and Elevate, the contest focused on K-12 educational facilities, which empower and elevate their communities like few other buildings can.

A panel of Florida architects chose 14 schools from around Florida. University High School, a Mediterranean-style building centered on a communal plaza, won the contest by a wide margin. University High's principal Thomas Ott accepted the award on behalf of the school at AIA Florida's Design & Honor Awards Presentation on July 30 at The Breakers in Palm Beach.

In total, the contest garnered well over 1.5 million votes from around the world, raising awareness of Florida's architecture and its power to change lives.

The schools in the contest were:

University High School, Orlando.

The Greene School, West Palm Beach, Florida.

Hillsborough High School, Tampa.

Tallahassee School of Arts and Sciences, Tallahassee, Florida.

Dune Lakes Elementary School, Santa Rosa Beach, Florida.

Tice Elementary School, Fort Myers, Florida.
