Why Architecture Matters

2024 ANNUAL CONVENTION AND TRADE SHOW
THE BREAKERS PALM BEACH | JULY 17-20, 2024

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

IT IS WITH GREAT PLEASURE THAT I INVITE YOU TO THE 2024 AIA FLORIDA CONVENTION & TRADE SHOW, JULY 17-20, AT THE BREAKERS IN PALM BEACH. OUR THEME IS LIVE. WORK. PLAY. WHY ARCHITECTURE MATTERS.

From the community spaces where we gather, to the private spaces we share with our family and friends, to our work environment where we govern, create and manage, architecture has the power to shape our experiences and connect us with culture and to one another. This year's convention committee has developed courses that explore why architecture matters in design, in implementation and in the welfare of its inhabitants.

Our kickoff speaker is Pulitzer Prize winner Paul Goldberger, who has authored several books, notably, "Why Architecture Matters" (2009, Yale University Press) and "Building Art: The Life and Work of Frank Gehry" (2015, Alfred A Knopf). Goldberger will reveal how architecture shapes communities, influences culture, and ultimately plays a pivotal role in our collective human experience.

Also joining us will be Ralph Campbell, CMC, CEO at Learning Optimized, who will be unlocking the leader within you by identifying your "Why." Phil Bernstein, FAIA, NOMA, LEED AP, associate dean and adjunct professor at Yale, will discuss design and construction in an era of AI. Liz York, FAIA, will outline ways to add health to generate happier clients and better buildings. Also invited is Florida Senate President Kathleen Passidomo, who will discuss the state of housing in Florida and the impact on the state's growth and economy.

More sessions will include panel discussions covering tips and techniques for successful fee negotiations, the impact of density, diversity, not for profits and philanthropy on affordable housing, and continuing the conversation from last year's convention will be deans and directors from Florida schools of architecture.

New this year will be an architectural photography workshop with AIA Florida Photographer of the Year recipient Steven Brooke, and representatives from Black Architects in the Making (BAM) leading the marshmallow and toothpick bridge challenge.

The convention would not be complete without traditional events such as the President's Welcome Reception, Drink and Draw, Trade Show, Design Awards, Emerging Professionals Reception, exciting tours, and the fun, yet competitive golf tournament!

Finally, attendees will experience the legendary Breakers resort, offering oceanfront luxury with nine restaurants, two golf courses, 10 tennis courts, pools, shopping, fitness center, and spa.

Plan to attend this year's convention and leave inspired to champion the significance of architecture and share the passion for projects that elevate where we live, work and play.

KEYNOTE SPEAKERS

PAUL GOLDBERGER, HON. AIA

PAUL GOLDBERGER, HON. AIA AUTHOR, JOURNALIST, EDUCATOR

Paul Goldberger is the former architecture critic for The New York Times, where his architecture criticism was awarded the Pulitzer Prize in 1984. He lectures widely around the country about architecture, design, historic preservation and cities. Goldberger has taught at both the Yale School of Architecture and the Graduate School of Journalism at the University of California, Berkeley and currently holds the Joseph Urban Chair at The New School in New York City.

Goldberger is the author of several books, notably "Why Architecture Matters" and "Building Art: The Life and Work of Frank Gehry." Goldberger's book on the process of rebuilding Ground Zero, "UP FROM ZERO: Politics, Architecture, and the Rebuilding of New York," was named one of The New York Times Notable Books for 2004. In addition to the Pulitzer, his writing has received many awards including the National Building Museum's Vincent Scully Prize and the Medal of Honor of the New York Landmarks Preservation Foundation.

Goldberger has served as an advisor to cultural and educational institutions on architect selection and design, to organizations such as the Corcoran Gallery of Art in Washington, D.C. and the New York Public Library, emphasizing his commitment to shaping the architectural landscape.

In his keynote address, Goldberger will delve into how architecture impacts how we live, work, and play within our communities and plays a pivotal role in our collective human experience.

RALPH CAMPBELL, CEO, CERTIFIED MASTER COACH, LEARNING OPTIMIZED

Ralph Campbell is a certified master coach and president of Learning Optimized. Campbell's genuine dedication to helping others is rooted in his lifelong commitment to giving back to his community. He has supported and served on the boards of numerous charities, including Camelot Community Care, United Way of Broward County, Nova Southeastern University, Broward Partnership for the Homeless, Boys & Girls Clubs of Broward County, Women in Distress, and the National Conference for Community and Justice. Campbell has been recognized as one of the "Most Powerful African Americans" in south Florida and was honored by the Sun Sentinel as a Community Hero and by the Broward County Public School System. A graduate of Dartmouth Tuck School of Business Leadership Program, Leadership Broward XXII and Leadership Florida XXVII, Campbell earned a bachelor's degree in marketing from Morehouse College and began his journey toward a master's degree and Ph.D in the fall of 2022.

Campbell's keynote presentation will explore the four mindset categories, helping you discover leadership abilities that have the power to take you to your fullest potential.

RALPH CAMPBELL

SEN. KATHLEEN PASSIDOMO

PHILLIP G. BERNSTEIN, FAIA

LIZ YORK, FAIA

THE HONORABLE KATHLEEN PASSIDOMO, PRESIDENT, FLORIDA SENATE

Kathleen Passidomo is the President of the Florida Senate. Passidomo formerly served in the Florida House of Representatives from 2010-2016 and has served in the Florida Senate consecutively since her election in 2016. Under her tenure, she has led the development and passage of comprehensive legislation to increase attainable workforce housing, expanded access to Florida's Wildlife Corridor and invested more than $4 billion to support hurricane recovery and increase storm resiliency in the Sunshine State.

In Passidomo's keynote session, she will discuss the state of housing in Florida and the impact of housing attainability on the growth and economy of the state.

PHILLIP G. BERNSTEIN, FAIA, NOMA, LEED AP, ASSOCIATE DEAN AND PROFESSOR

Phillip Bernstein is an architect, technologist, and educator. He is currently an associate dean and adjunct adjunct professor at the Yale University School of Architecture, where he has taught since 1989. He developed the practice curriculum at Yale and has taught the required courses as well as research seminars on the business models and value propositions of the profession. He recently taught a course with Amb. (Ret) Luis C. Debaca on forced labor in the building supply chain. He has been a visiting course lecturer at Harvard, Princeton, Columbia, MIT, Michigan, Cal Berkeley, and Cornell. He writes and lectures extensively about practice and technology issues, has been published in numerous architectural magazines and newspapers, and has contributed to books and journals about technology, design, and architectural practice.

In Bernstein's keynote, explore the world of Automation, Autonomy and Architecture in the Design and Construction Era of AI.

LIZ YORK, FAIA SUSTAINABLE DESIGN EXPERT, GSA

Liz York, FAIA joined the Office of Federal High-Performance Green Buildings as a sustainable design expert for the US General Services Administration in 2023. Previously, York served as senior advisor for buildings and facilities policy and innovation and chief sustainability officer for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. York brings innovation to facility policy and operations and implements healthy, resilient, equitable work environments for the federal government. She served as the first chair of the AIA Committee for Climate Action and Design Excellence where she worked to thread the triple bottom line into the actions, tools and communications created for architects. She has received two White House awards for sustainability, been named to the Atlanta Business Chronicle's Sustainability Who's Who and has been recognized by the American Institute of Architects as a Fellow for her work to impact health and well-being by empowering architects to build better environments.

In York's keynote, discover how we can become better practitioners by incorporating the health and welfare lessons we learn into our work.

ATTENTION EMERGING PROFESSIONALS

The AIA Florida Convention Planning Committee built an agenda full of great sessions and events for emerging professionals (EPs) to attend. Best of all, associate AIA members and professionals licensed 10 years or less enjoy a reduced registration rate.

Here are some sessions designed with the associate and young architect in mind:

- Kickoff: Why Architecture Matters
- Keynote: Success Mindsets: Keys to Unlocking the Leader Within You
- Technology's Role in Design Decisions: Materials Management, AI & Beyond
- Women in Architecture: Take Back Your Time: Achieving More in Your Career Through Working Less
- AI 101: Introduction to AI in Architecture Practice
- Scientifically Proven Ways to Influence Others
- I'm Licensed - Now What Do I Do?
- Healthy Design - Making a Difference with Every Building
- Keynote: Automation, Autonomy, and Architecture: Design and Construction in an Era of AI

FLORIDA FOUNDATION FOR ARCHITECTURE ANNUAL RAFFLE

The Florida Foundation for Architecture annual raffle is back at The Breakers Palm Beach. All proceeds will benefit the scholarship fund. AIA Florida and the Florida Foundation for Architecture have created a scholarship fund available to architecture students whose primary residence is in Florida and are enrolled in one of Florida's college or university architecture programs. Recipients will be announced at the AIA Florida Design and Honor Awards reception on July 20, 2024. Be sure to purchase your raffle tickets at the AIA Florida Logo Store before the drawing on Saturday, July 20.

CE CREDIT

This year's convention features more than 30 hours of continuing education credit from which to choose. All convention continuing education credits have been submitted to AIA CES for approval.

2024 ANNUAL CONVENTION COMMITTEE

A huge thank you to the very talented group of architects and associates for which, without their hard work and dedication, this event would not be possible.

THURSDAY, JULY, 18

Session A: Kickoff Session: Why Architecture Matters 1 HSW

8:45-10 a.m.

In this year's kickoff session, Paul Goldberger explains how his book, "Why Architecture Matters," examines the essence of architecture and its profound societal impact. Attendees will gain a deeper understanding of architecture's influence on communities and culture, and its significance in our collective human experience, where we live, work, and play. Whether you're an experienced architect or an emerging enthusiast, this keynote promises to ignite your passion for the built environment.

Speaker: Paul Goldberger, Hon. AIA, author, journalist, educator

Session B: Keynote: Success Mindsets: Keys to Unlocking the Leader Within You 1 LU | 10:15-11:15 a.m.

Unlock the leader within you in the transformative keynote "Success Mindsets." Navigate a profound exploration of four mindset categories, shaping your perspective and influencing outcomes. Interactive self-reflection exercises reveal hidden mindset patterns, empowering you to embrace leadership within your narrative. Gain actionable guidance to cultivate optimal success mindsets, fostering a positive outlook and propelling towards goals. Whether an aspiring or seasoned leader, this session equips you with tools to unlock latent leadership abilities and manifest your fullest potential. Join us on this journey of personal and professional growth, as we delve into the keys that unlock success mindsets.

Speaker: Ralph Campbell, CEO, Certified Master Coach, Learning Optimized

Session C: Optional Lunch Session: Innovative Designs: New Perspectives

for Large Fenestration Openings 1 HSW | 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.

This course is designed to provide architects with an understanding of new innovations in large glass fenestration products. This is to include definitions, capabilities, and advantages of large moveable and fixed glass wall systems. It explains the importance of thermal performance and testing in high wind-borne and coastal areas and depicts how not all glass wall systems are created equally.

Speaker: Mark Gallagher, Regional Sales & Business Development, Euro-Wall Systems

Session D: Optional Lunch Session: Attractive Accents: The Versatile Appeal of Architectural Metal 1 HSW | 11:30 a.m.-12:45 p.m.

Architectural metal panel systems offer numerous benefits, design versatility and appeal in a variety of applications; roofs, walls, soffits, accents and more to custom fit unique project requirements including various shapes, sized finishes, durability, long-lasting and low maintenance.

Speaker: Royal Casey, CSI, Florida Sales and Technical Manager, PAC-Clad

Session E: I'm Licensed – Now What Do I Do? | 1.5 LU | 1-2:30 p.m.

This session delves into the multifaceted world of post-licensure in architecture. Gain valuable insights on leveraging your license for career advancement and navigating the professional landscape. From client interactions to project management, career choices to legal obligations, and project and operations management, this panel session equips recently licensed architects with the essential knowledge to thrive in their professional journey.

Session F: Live Local – A Year Later: How is it Impacting Affordable Housing? 1.5 HSW | 1-2:30 p.m.

This session will be conducted by an interdisciplinary panel of professionals intimately involved in affordable housing policy, planning, design, and development. They will discuss the impact the Live Local legislation has had on their profession and the affordable housing space in which they work. The focus will be on the innovations, opportunities and best practices that have evolved as a result of the Live Local Act.

Speakers: Steve Hruby, AIA, Architects Unlimited (moderator); Jeff Huber, FAIA, ASLA, Brooks+Scarpa; Shawn Wilson, CEO, Blue Sky Communities; Catherine Hartley, AICP, CNU-A, team manager, Benesch; Shane Phillips, housing initiative manager, UCLA; Cormac Giblin, AICP, CPM, director of housing policy and economic development, Collier County Government

Session G: Supply, Stability, Subsidy: A Framework for Affordability and Coalition Building 1 HSW | 2:45-3:45 p.m.

Author and researcher Shane Phillips discusses his framework for addressing housing affordability issues: the three S's of supply, stability, and subsidy. How can different priorities and communities be brought together to enact impactful, durable change?

Speaker: Shane Phillips, Housing Initiative Manager, UCLA

Session H: Technology's Role in Design Decisions: Materials Management, AI & Beyond | 1 LU | 2:45-3:45 p.m.

This course explores the transformative impact of technology on architectural design decisions, focusing on materials management and the integration of Artificial Intelligence (AI). It delves into how emerging technologies are reshaping the way architects select materials, manage specifications, and collaborate with product manufacturers. Participants will be introduced to cutting-edge tools and methodologies, gaining insights into how technology can optimize efficiency, accuracy, and sustainability in design projects.

Speaker: Dave Lemont, Assoc. AIA, chairman, Acelab & Vardhan Mehta, CSI, Co-founder & CEO, Acelab

Session I: Education Panel Part 2 CE pending AIA approval | 4-5:30 p.m.

Considering our charge to educate and train, with a focus on our responsibilities to protect health, safety and welfare of the general public, we will continue the conversation from last year. This session offers the opportunity to gain important insights into the interplay between education and practice.

Speakers: Andrew Chin, Assoc. AIA, associate professor and dean, FAMU School of Architecture + Engineering Technology; Henry Rueda, chair of the Dept. of Architecture, FIU; David Rifkind, director of the School of Architecture, UF; Dr. Joseph Choma, director of the School of Architecture and professor; FAU, Rodolphe el-Khoury, dean, UM School of Architecture; Steven Cooke, director and associate professor, USF School of Architecture and Community Design

FRIDAY, JULY 19

Session J: Early Bird: Taking the Guesswork out of Mixed-Use Building Analysis | 1 HSW | 7:15-8:15 a.m.

While mixed-use buildings are common, determining how to apply their unique mix of code requirements can be a daunting task. To simplify code analysis associated with these buildings, this presentation covers logical, code-compliant steps for a number of topics, including determining allowable building size, separation needs, detailing requirements, and the application of special provisions. With an emphasis on the use of wood framing in construction types III, IV and V, examples, calculations, and details will be presented to demonstrate how to navigate the various code requirements associated with mixed-use buildings while maximizing building size and meeting fire and life safety needs.

Speaker: Jeff Peters, PE, CGC, Woodworks

Session K: Women in Architecture: Take Back Your Time: Achieving More in Your Career Through Working Less 1 LU | 7:15-8:15 a.m.

When you are busy balancing modern work and life it can feel like growth in your career is elusive but often there's a better way and it involves learning to take back your time, so you work smarter not harder on the things that really matter. In this training led by Maya Sharfi of Build Yourself, you will learn how to take back control over your time and communicate your boundaries. She will share top strategies for freeing up time and working smarter not harder. You'll learn to reclaim your focus and your ability to grow into the career you want.

Speaker: Maya Sharfi, founder & executive coach with Build Yourself

Session L: Keynote: State of Housing in Florida | 1 LU | 8:30-9:45 a.m.

Senate President Passidomo will discuss the state of housing in Florida and the impact of housing attainability on the growth and economy of the state. She will provide an insight into the intent and goals of the Live Local Act which she championed through the legislature in 2023. She will discuss how she believes this legislation is a game changer for the production of housing for the working class and the "Missing Middle" Floridians. She will also outline new legislative initiatives that she is championing regarding healthy communities.

Speaker: Senate President Kathleen Passidomo

Session M: Keynote: Automation, Autonomy and Architecture: Design and Construction in an Era of AI 1 LU | 10-11 a.m.

The building industry has only recently fully embraced the possibilities of data and digitization, just as computers have become impressively capable in the era of artificial intelligence powered by machine learning. Digital processes are everywhere in the studio and construction site, automating tasks and creating oceans of data, exactly what's needed to train those same AI systems. Are these machines enabled by immense storage, processing speed, and interconnectivity poised to augment the capabilities of design and construction professionals or replace us entirely? This talk will examine the digitized future of architecture/engineering/construction in a world where machines have begun to think.

Speaker: Phil Bernstein, FAIA, NOMA, LEED AP, Associate dean and adjunct professor, Yale School of Architecture

Session N: Human Health, Applied Research and Evaluations – What's it All About? | 1 HSW | 11:15 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

Health is the zeitgeist. Understanding how the built environment influences human health and behavior is more important than ever. This workshop will equip you to harness research from the fields of psychology, neuroscience, and sociology to create architecture for health. You'll learn how to set behavioral and health-promoting goals, apply interdisciplinary research, and utilize pre-design and post-occupancy evaluations for unique insights. Join us to gain practical skills for impactful design solutions and align your voice with the prevailing health-conscious culture of today.

Speaker: Matt Finn, AIA, Principles by Cognitive Design

Session O: Let's Talk About Specs Baby! 1 HSW | 11:15 a.m.-12:15 p.m.

This session is for anyone who would like a better understanding of contract documents, guiding them through the nuances of contracts, emphasizing their significance in ensuring projects align with regulations, adhere to ethical standards and most importantly, prioritize public safety.

Speaker: Cherise S. Lakeside, FCSI, senior specifications writer, RDH Building Science, Inc.

Session P: Optional Lunch Session: Understanding NOAs 1.5 HSW | 12:30-2 p.m.

This class can be a valuable tool to better understand what part or parts of a Notice of Acceptance (NOA) is important to you whether you are an architect, contractor, installer, or even a building inspector. Not all NOAs are created equal. Their structure varies, not only from product to product but also between manufacturers as well. This class will break down the understanding needed to eliminate the confusion between NOAs.

Speaker: Chris Morgan, architectural sales representative, PGTI

Session Q: Optional Lunch Session: Coatings that Work: Innovations that Transcend Protection & Appearance 1.5 HSW | 12:30-2 p.m.

Owners look to you for products that help buildings look better longer. Greater expectations for space utilization and project design are reframing how traditional building products should contribute to the efficient use of resources and promote well-being for the occupant. This course will highlight coating innovations engineered to work harder. We will walk through the new generation of coatings and review how they can be utilized on new and renovation projects.

Speaker: Frederick M. Lauro, Sherwin Williams

Session R: The Intersection of Design and Law: Four Factors Transforming the Future of Design | 1 HSW | 1-2 p.m.

How will the future of architecture be different from current modes of thinking and designing? This session will explore four key factors that are transforming the way design professionals work, engage with clients, and serve the public and society. Participants will engage in a forward-thinking discussion of far-reaching trends that are changing design and how professionals can envision dramatic shifts in architecture.

Speaker: Josh Flowers, FAIA, legal counsel at Gresham Smith

SATURDAY, JULY 20

Session S: Early Bird: Quality Control in Masonry | CE Credit TBD | 7:15-8:15 a.m.

Speaker: Chris Bettinger, Old Castle Coastal

Session T: Early Bird: High Velocity Hurricane Zone Glass Door Solutions 1 HSW | 7:15-8:15 a.m.

High velocity hurricane zone glass door solutions will provide an in-depth overview of frameless impact and non-impact doors for commercial applications in the U.S. coastal regions. Topics will include structurally engineered glass, hurricane design trends with glass doors and options to meet ADA, egress and local jurisdiction requirements.

Speaker: Steve Tongco, CSI, SFDI, director of architectural and design consulting, Slimpact by Faour Glass Technologies

Session U: Keynote: Healthy Design – Making a Difference with Every Building 1 HSW | 8:30-9:45 a.m.

Every year, architects all over Florida are looking for continuing education credits for health, safety and welfare. But more importantly, how do we leave those sessions and incorporate health and welfare in our design work? This session will outline some simple ways to add health and capitalize on these efforts with happier clients and better buildings for every building type.

Speaker: Liz York, FAIA, sustainable design expert, GSA

Session V: Fee Negotiation Tips and Techniques Panel Discussion 1.5 LU | 10-11:30 a.m.

This panel discussion will explore different approaches for delivering professional architecture and engineering services. Panelists will analyze various fee structures applicable to these services, shedding light on their nuances and implications. The session emphasizes the importance of clearly defining the scope of services, ensuring participants understand client expectations and project requirements. Attendees will gain insight into optimizing service delivery and fee structures for successful and sustainable practice.

Session W: Impact of Density, Diversity, NPOs and Philanthropy on Affordable Housing | 1.5 HSW | 10-11:30 a.m.

This session will begin with a presentation from Michael Pyatok, FAIA, an internationally recognized specialist in affordable housing. He will tell stories behind five projects that dealt with cultural diversity, community involvement during design and a careful massaging of density to achieve human scale. He will discuss collaborations with non-profit development corporations, public housing authorities and joint ventures between non-profit and for-profit developers who, as clients, play a critical role in setting the stage for quality affordable housing. The second portion of the session will be a panel discussion with Mr. Pyatok, executives of two innovative NPOs delivering affordable housing and an executive of a community foundation who has made affordable housing one of its highest priorities. Hear how these organizations are working to produce quality housing in Florida and how they see architects partnering with their organizations.

Speakers: Stephen Hruby, AIA, president, Architects Unlimited (moderator), Michael Pyatok, FAIA, principal emeritus, Juan Hollingsworth, president of the board, Hannibal Square Community Land Trust, Mandy Bartle, executive director, South Florida Community Land Trust, Michael Puchalla, executive director, Collier County Community Land Trust, Lindsey Touchette, vice president of community engagement,

Collier Community Foundation

Session X: BAM Builds: Marshmallow & Toothpick Bridge Challenge 1.5 LU | 11:45 a.m.-1:15 p.m.

BAM Builds: Marshmallow & Toothpick Bridge Challenge is a dynamic workshop by Black Architects in the Making, designed for architects to learn how to conduct engaging, educational activities for young students. This session will guide participants through the process of teaching basic engineering and architectural concepts using everyday materials like marshmallows and toothpicks. It is a practical, hands-on demonstration of how to inspire creativity and interest in architecture among youth, showcasing effective, simplified teaching techniques. Join us to explore how to make learning about architecture accessible and fun for the next generation of architects.

Speakers: Malcolm Jones, AIA, NOMA, principal MAJ Architecture + Design, Anson Stuart, AIA, NOMA, NCARB, PMP, principal, Stuart Architecture, Naomi Harrison, Assoc. AIA, senior project manager, M.C. Harry & Associates, Craig Aquart, AIA, NOMA, CSI principal, MC Harry & Associates

Session Y: Optional Lunch Session: Masonry Game Show

1.5 HSW | 11:45 a.m.-1:15 p.m.

This session will summarize masonry technical resources available to the design community. Subjects will highlight best practices and sustainable masonry from the National Concrete Masonry Association (NCMA) Tek Notes, and the Brick Industry Association (BIA) Tek Notes.

Speaker: Chris Bettinger, Old Castle Coastal

Session Z: Optional Lunch Session: Decarbonization Through Carbon Conscious Design

1.5 HSW | 11:45 a.m.-1:15 p.m.

Delivering a successful project involves being able to communicate decarbonization concepts to the owner, operator, design and construction teams in their respective languages. This presentation seeks to explore both the design elements an architect can use in creating a low carbon building, while also emphasizing what can be expected from subconsultants in this process. It also breaks down lessons learned into the stages of the initial schematic design, development of the construction documents, permitting, construction and operation – as the unexpected is encountered.

Speakers: Brian Lomel, PE, LEED Fellow, WELL AP, Fitwel Ambassador, Principal | Director of PEAK Institute, TLC Engineering Solutions, Rebecca Cegelis, El engineer | Structural TLC Engineering Solutions

Session AA: Beyond Gene Leedy 1 HSW | 1:30-2:30 p.m.

The talk will highlight a multi-faceted initiative to preserve, update and honor the work of the late Florida architect, Gene Leedy, FAIA (1928-2018). The discussion will include a deep dive into Leedy's involvement with the Sarasota School of Architecture, a recap of Leedy's work from post and beam to brutalism, influences on a next generation of architects and new efforts to celebrate his legacy.

Speakers: Max Strang, FAIA, founding principal, Strang Design

Session BB: AI 101: Introduction to AI in Architecture Practice 1 LU | 1:30-2:30 p.m.

This presentation will cover everything you need to know to explore the powerful collaboration between architects owners, occupants, society and AI in design and the future of architecture, shaping the built environment.

Speakers: George Valdes, head of product, Integrated Projects

Session CC: Scientifically Proven Ways to Influence Others

1 LU | 1:30-2:30 p.m.

Are you in a position where you need to influence others? In this class, participants will learn scientifically proven ways to get people to behave in certain ways. Whether you need to influence up or down a command chain, this interactive exercise will keep you thinking for a long time.

Speaker: Bret Hood, 21st Century Learning

Session DD: Advanced FBC: 8th Edition (2023): The Role of the Architect in Slip, Trip, and Fall Accidents

2 HSW/FBC credit pending | 3-5 p.m.

This seminar will address the role of the architect in designing safe paths of travel, and level changes that are ergonomically correct, and code-compliant. The presentation will address the Florida Building Code requirements for stairs, steps, ramps, and level changes. In addition to the 2023 FBC, the Florida Accessibility and ADA requirements will be discussed, as well as the standards of care from the National Floor Safety Institute (NFSI), and the ASTM F-13 Committee on Walkway Surfaces and Coefficient of Friction Testing (COF). Participants will examine and comment on good and bad examples of floor treatments, level changes, testing methods for slipperiness (COF), and best practices.

SPECIAL EVENTS

Be a part of the extraordinary special events happening at this year's convention. Beyond the valuable continuing education and networking, attend an array of interactive discussions and workshops created to enhance your convention experience and elevate your career.

Wednesday, July 17, 2024

AIA Florida Annual Meeting 1-4 p.m.

Attend AIA Florida's Annual Meeting and hear speeches from candidates running for leadership positions, join in the time-honored FAPAC parade of checks, stay updated on the latest activities unfolding within volunteer committees, and gain insights into the future of the architecture industry.

Fee: Complimentary

Sponsored by: Collinsworth Insurance

Thursday, July 18, 2024

Architecture Photography Workshop – New! 4 LU | 1-5 p.m.

Discover the world of architectural photography where creativity meets technical expertise. This workshop will cover basic camera and software operations, the art of composition, border verticals, proportional systems, and axial horizontals that will refine your skills in creating visually striking photographs. Master the subtleties of timing and shadow control and craft your own distinctive signature photograph. Additional discussions will cover photography at night.

About the Instructor: Steven Brooke, winner of the AIA National Honor Award and recipient of the AIA Florida Photographer of the Year, has taught at the University of Miami School of Architecture for over 12 years. Brooke has photographed and authored over 40 books, with works on Miami Beach Art Deco, Rome, and Jerusalem. Based in Miami throughout his career, his publications and articles champion Florida architecture and design worldwide.

Fee: $55

Sumi-e and Sake 4-5:30 p.m.

In this very popular workshop on sumi-e zen brush painting, you will learn why less is more. Sumi-e, a monochrome painting executed in ink, encompasses energy and spirit. In this art form, you should not be concerned with painting exactly what you see, but instead use your feelings and your experience with the subject. You will learn basic brush strokes, zen philosophy and timeless techniques all while tasting a selection of sake. Fee includes fun, sake tasting, a brush and sumi-e ink. You will leave with your own zen masterpiece! Space is limited.

Fee: $60

Instructor/Host: Don Yoshino, FAIA

President's Welcome Reception 5:30-7 p.m.
