

Technical Director

Rowe Architects Incorporated, a second-generation design firm established in Tampa in 1965, is seeking a smart, creative, motivated, and passionate professional to join our growing team in a highly collaborative studio focused on excellence in design and client service.

Our work is focused on primarily K-12 and higher education project types as well as historic preservation. For more information, please see our web site at www.rowearchitects.com

Responsibilities will include assisting project managers and design architects with design and construction document development and detailing, product and systems research, specification writing, design and construction document quality control as well as refining internal management of technical systems, establishing technical policies and development of standards for document production and quality assurance.

Well experienced architects with 10+ years' experience are encouraged to apply. Microsoft Word & Excel, Bluebeam, MasterSpec and MasterWorks proficiency as well as excellent communication skills are preferred.

Please email your resume and a one-page cover letter outlining your qualifications and expressing your interest in this position to jobs@rowearchitects.com
